Can perovskite cells be used on steel?

To the best of our knowledge, this is the highest reported for perovskite cells on steel. This work demonstrates the robust design necessary for PSCs on steel and the versatility of PSCs. It may also inspire work on other types of surfaces beyond glass, paving the way for a wider range of applications.

It found that the ITO interlayer between the perovskite cell and the steel substrate is an effective barrier against iron diffusion from the steel substrate into the SnO₂ ...
